

for creating a fund for the upkeep of other sports. Players' emoluments must be restricted to reasonable amounts. Cricket must cease to be a game of the rich, for the rich and by the rich as is presently the case with the IPL.

R.J. KHURANA, Bhopal

Inhuman Charity

The story on the Gujarat riots was an eye-opening one ("Inhuman Rights", April 5). The role played by Teesta Setalwad to abort truth and derail the legal process must be condemned. She has incited Muslims to report concocted tales of Hindu atrocities like the gang-rape of Madina and has blatantly manipulated with evidence, an act which deserves deterrent penal action. Strangely, the atrocities perpetrated against Hindus do not merit her attention.

R.J. KOTHALKAR,

Mumbai

Fight of Fancy

David Headley's plea bargain and the US administration's dawdling on allowing India access to him show that expecting him to divulge more than he condescends to do is beyond current reality ("The Road to Access", April 5). It's also logical fantasy to imagine that the episode would spur Pakistan to take action against the 26/11 conspirators. Nothing that Headley has disclosed, or may disclose, is outside of the orbit of Pakistani managers of bedlam in India.

BISHAN SAHAI,

via www.indiatoday.in

Chinese Checkers

Your story on Chinese hackers targeting Indian strategic establishments, their well-developed cyber-war capability and their big budget to achieve global electronic dominance comes as a lay to protect ourselves.

A. JACOB SAHAYAM,
Thiruvananthapuram

The Reluctant Ally

Going by the US track record of not only being an unreliable ally but also a self-serving compulsive global bully, it is beyond one's comprehension as to why our government has adopted a distinct pro-US stance ("An Uneasy Alliance", April 5). Notwithstanding the fact

“The nation has to pay for M. Karunanidhi's family feud. Dynastic politics has made a mockery of our democracy because most politicians want their legal heirs to become political heirs as well.”

MADHU AGRAWAL, Delhi

timely warning and a shock ("Snooping Dragon", April 5). It is said that the Chinese have developed a secure operating system and can keep attacking us but we can't retaliate. As suggested by the experts we have to build up our dedicated cyber-security organisation, strategy and power without any de-that Barack Obama rolled out the red carpet for the prime minister at the White House, the unmistakable writing on the wall has been that behind the diplomatic nicety of Indo-US relations, the US is still far from being India-friendly. NALINI VIJAYARAGHAVAN, via www.indiatoday.in 30

YEARS AGO IN INDIA
TODAY

JUNE 16-30, 1980

The Takeover

Sanjay Gandhi's success seemed all-pervasive. Last week, as the final results to the assembly elections in nine states reached the capital, legions of triumphant Sanjay-men swarmed the streets. Frazzled by their exertions in the field, their enthusiasm remained undampened by the mid-summer temperature, as they paid homage to their young master. State guest houses were crammed to capacity. Houses of members of Parliament were swamped by newly elected MLAs in search of refuge. And as the sultry days melted into sleepless nights, jockeying for chief ministerships and state ministries became a matter of obtaining the official decree from 1, Safdarjung Road. There was a certain predictability about the sequence of events. Four months ago when Mrs Gandhi dissolved the state assemblies in nine states claiming they no longer represented the will of the people, her scheme for the future took a tangible shape.

SANJAY
GANDHI

Readers are recommended to make appropriate enquiries before sending money, incurring expenses or entering into commitments in relation to any advertisement appearing in this publication. The India Today Group does not vouch for any claims made by the advertisers of products and services. The printer, publisher, editor-in-chief and the editor of the India Today Group publications shall not be held liable for any consequences in the event of such claims not being honoured by the advertisers.

E-MAIL YOUR LETTERS TO: letters.editor@intoday.com

FAX THEM TO: 011-23316180

OR LOG ON TO: www.indiatoday.in