

LIVING IN COLOUR

We now know how Sridevi has been spending her time. She's been blooming into an artist. Her painting Thoughts has been accepted by an international art auction house and will be auctioned for charity in April. "She spends about four days a week painting for up to five hours," says husband Boney Kapoor. The woman has many shades.

Rags to Ramp

He's gone from being a Delhi pavement dweller to a ramp model. Yes, Sanjay Padiyar, 22, was pinching himself as he walked the runway at Lakme Fashion Week for designer Narendra Kumar. The looker was discovered by French documentary filmmaker Camille Ponsin, who recommended him to Kumar. "He came for modelling advice but seemed confident enough to handle such a premier event," says Kumar. Now to see if Padiyar shines on.

THE SHOW GOES ON

Nothing could stop Rahul Mahajan from marrying the perfect item girl, Dimpny Ganguly. Not even his uncle's death. While his reel relatives were rejoicing at the TV wedding, his sister, BJP youth wing leader Poonam Mahajan Rao, was missing. Poonam, who has always stood by Rahul, failed to show up as she is apparently camera-shy. "She's happy for me though she hasn't been able to meet Dimpny," says Rahul. Or is she just too embarrassed by her brother?

Code Woman

Five female filmmakers are truly celebrating women this week. Marathi movie Sanhita will see an all-women cast and crew. "We wanted to show that women can do as good a job as men," says producer Neeta Deokar. The film, directed by Sumitra Bhavé, will chart the story of women from different strata of society. The team includes producers Amruta Rao and Madhuri Ashirgade as well as executive producer Sunanda Kauskar.
