

3

AMARTYA SEN

77, Economist and Philosopher (3)

Fair Enough

Because his firm commitment to social justice has never sounded as relevant as it does in a world of economic woe.

Because the Harvard professor and Trinity College Fellow is in demand from governments looking for solutions, whether it is in France or India.

Because the breadth of his intellectual vision makes him a sought-after speaker at global conferences.

Because his latest book The Idea of Justice has regenerated a debate on India's judicial system and its remedies.

Did you know He was born in a university campus, Santiniketan, and has lived all his life in one campus or another.

MONEY SHARMA/www.indiatodayimages.com

RAVI S SAHANI/www.indiatodayimages.com

4

INDRA KRISHNAMURTHY NOOYI

55, Entrepreneur (4)

Feminine Fizz

Because PepsiCo's CEO was the star at the World Economic Forum last month where she demanded more women on panels which would "change the whole nature of Davos".

Because she was at the head table with US President Barack Obama and Prime Minister Manmohan Singh at the White House dinner.

Because she ranks third on Forbes' 2009 list of 100 "most influential women".

Did you know Her compensation in 2009 was $14.9 million (Rs 67 crore), making her one of the world's 25 highest-paid women.

SALMAN RUSHDIE

63, Novelist and Essayist (5)

The Stuff of Fantasies

Because he remains one of the most famous celebrity authors in the world and his planned book on 20 years of hiding from the fatwa is the most talked about event in international publishing.

Because his new love is cinema and he's working on Deepa Mehta's screen version of Midnight's Children.

Did you know He is writing a sequel to his 1990 book, Haroun and the Sea of Stories, for his youngest son Milan.

AP PHOTO/JOSE LUIS MAGANA