

Nehru celebrating Holi with daughter Indira Gandhi at Rashtrapati Bhavan in 1956. He was both father and her political mentor and they shared a unique bond.

Gandhi with Mountbatten and Edwina at Government House (today's Rashtrapati Bhavan) in 1947. Their relationship was strained because of Gandhi's opposition to Partition but after Gandhi's assassination, Mountbatten wrote that he would go down in history at par with the Buddha and Jesus Christ.

ROY HAD CLOSE ACCESS TO NEHRU
WHICH ALLOWED HIM TO TAKE INTIMATE PHOTOGRAPHS OF HIM WITH VARIOUS LEADERS AND HIS DAUGHTER INDIRA.
