

The beauty of Bengal lies in its wilderness

Visibly different from the other provinces of India, Bengal has almost all the geographical characteristics except the desert. The great Himalayan Range guards the state in the North, while the Bay of Bengal soothes its soul down south. World's largest mangrove forest Sundarban with Royal Bengal Tiger makes the state a different trip. Apart from these, there is Gangetic plane which is famous for its intellectual fervour. History, heritage, myths are scattered here and there in the state. Beautiful, isn't it?

The must visit destinations of Bengal:

Darjeeling, Dooars, Cooch Behar, Murshidabad, Malda, Bishnupur,
Santiniketan, Purulia, Sundarban, Digha, Sankarpur, Bakkhali, Diamond
Harbour & ofcourse KOLKATA

West Bengal Tourism

Directorate of Tourism Govt. of West Bengal