

THE RISE OF THE YOUNG. WHAT DRIVES THE YOUTH!!

India.
The future global superpower.

The Sunshine economy.
A country of a billion people.
A country creating ripples across the globe in every field. From sports to business.
From music to science. A country, which has been stretched to the seams by its burgeoning youth.

It's not the traditional youth of yesterday but confident generation of today. A generation which wants everything and wants it fast. A generation which believes that their competition lies within themselves. A generation which won't stop at anything. It's a section of the crowd that stands apart in everything they do and want to do, because they possess a very radical attitude. An attitude that sets them apart. Makes them stand out in the crowd. Pushes them to question the paradigms. Makes them unstoppable. Turns the impossible into possible.

But the Indian youth has constantly evolved and come of age. It's no more the angry young crowd of the 70's. It's not a generation brimming with mindless aggression. Today's youth is the rightful mix of aggression and passion. And this is the generation which has the best shot at the future. Its DNA is coded post-liberalisation.

It has grown up with more choice, more access to information, more money and more opportunities than any other generation of Indians before it. It has also grown up with the knowledge that life has much more to offer, the possibilities are endless.

From M.S. Dhoni to Saina Nehwal. From Naveen Jindal to Sabeer Bhatia. From Sachin Pilot to Siddharth Singhvi. They have shone in every field possible because they belong to a generation brimming with passion and they are the ones who hold the key to India's future. And the bud of nation's future finds a fragrant blooming in the hands of its youth. It's the youth who have the power to change. To inspire. To influence. To invoke.

This generation seems happier achieving the status quo their parents did, only faster. Their enthusiasm for life seems very rooted to the here and now, and the immediately achievable.

And this passion shows in everything they possess. From the clothes to watches. From gizmos to vehicles. Today's youth needs a vehicle that keeps him ahead of the rest. One that has unmatched power. A car that guarantees a second look.
A machine that shows what he or she is made of. Because the machine of today is the reflection of the one who

A car that'll give
