

DRESS CIRCLE

A royal lineage and a Ritu Beri gown turned Adishree Singh, 20, into the belle of the ball. The great granddaughter of the former King of Jammu and Kashmir Hari Singh shared space with global royalty at the annual Debutante Ball held at the Hotel de Crillon in Paris. A student of graphic design at The Parsons, New York, Adishree rubbed pretty shoulders with celebutantes such as Francesca Eastwood, daughter of Clint Eastwood, and Lady Kitty Spencer, niece of the late Princess Diana.

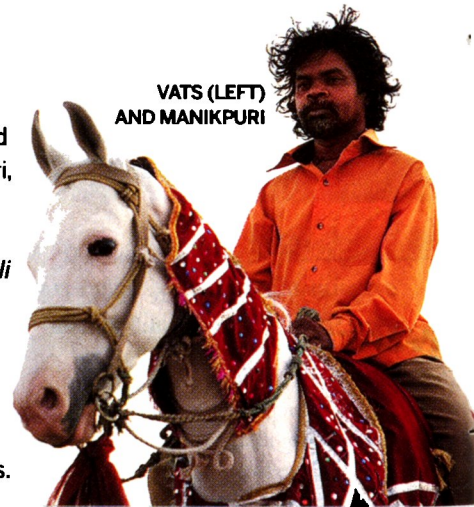

WORLD BEATER

DJ Megha Kawale, 27, was scratching the decks for world leaders at the 40th anniversary of the World Economic Forum in Davos. Dancing to her tunes were delegates from over 90 countries. The first Indian female DJ to play at the forum, Kawale treated the guests at Club Cabana to hits like Twist from Love Aaj Kal and Nagada from Jab We Met besides her trademark house music.

Leading Light

It can't be for nothing that Aamir Khan gives up a lead role. Omkar Das Manikpuri, veteran actor from Naya Theatre, plays the protagonist in Khan's production titled Peepili Live. The first Indian film to be screened in competition at the Sundance Film Festival in America, it's a satire on farmer suicides. Habib Tanvir protege Shalini Vats plays Manikpuri's wife. The pair is well-known in the theatre world. Hope the connection helps.

Brain Man

Here's some good news from Australia for a change. Indian-origin researcher of Alzheimer's disease Ralph Martins, 52, was named Australian of the Year 2010 by the Government of Western Australia for his role in identifying the Alzheimer's-causing protein in the brain. Born to Indian parents from Goa, Martins is now collaborating with researchers in India. He says, "I won because of the contribution I made to the field over 26 years."
