

FIDA ON FREIDA

The blogosphere went berserk two days before the Oscars. Everyone wanted to know what Freida Pinto would wear. The girl from a distant Mumbai suburb may have had just half-a-dozen scenes in Slumdog Millionaire, but she's managed to become the country's real export. An Israeli film aside, she's now busy shooting for Woody Allen. Now that's a crossover.

THE BIG IMPORT

As soon as the Love Aaj Kal credits started rolling, all everyone asked was, "Who's that girl?" She had barely one line in the film but Imtiaz Ali's Harleen Kaur left many bewildered. To everyone's surprise, she turned out to be Giselli Monteiro, a Brazilian model who looked every bit the Punjabi girl. So what if she can barely speak two words in Hindi.

FALSE STARTS

Even Sharmila Tagore's tired of hearing about Saif Ali Khan's wedding to Kareena Kapoor. No wonder she's announced that they're getting married next year. The only thing that outdid the Saifeena union was false news of Aishwarya Rai-Bachchan getting pregnant. It's almost as if the world wants Abhishek's progeny more than the Bachchans themselves.

MR MYSTERY

Will someone please tell us where Raj Kundra gets his millions from? And no "he's a businessman" doesn't count. He gave Shilpa Shetty a rock the size of a fist some months ago and swiped his Amex for a bigger one for the wedding. He's bought several swanky pads in London and Mumbai and zips around in the best wheels from an Audi to a Bentley. He even bought a stake in a cricket team. Yet, no one knows what the suddenly-famous Kundra does.
