

WORDS' WORTH

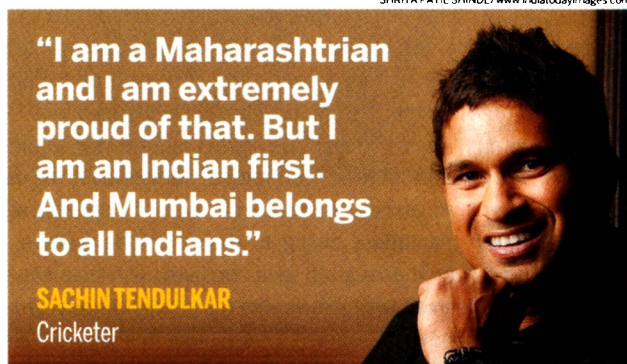

From well articulated soundbites to badly framed reactions, the best, brightest and the silliest gems of public discourse in the year gone by

YASBANT NEGI/www.indiatodayimages.com

"I never thought I'll reach this far. It's due to democracy that a person with such a background as mine can become the prime minister."

MANMOHAN SINGH
Prime Minister

SHRIYA PATIL SHINDE/www.indiatodayimages.com

"I am a Maharashtrian and I am extremely proud of that. But I am an Indian first. And Mumbai belongs to all Indians."

SACHIN TENDULKAR
Cricketer

"Homosexuality is a disease. It can be treated like any other congenital defect by yoga, pranayam and other meditation techniques."

BABA RAMDEV, Yoga guru

MANDAR DEODHAR/www.indiatodayimages.com

"You (Sachin Tendulkar) have taken a 'cheeky single' and have been run out from the pitch of the Marathi heart."

BAL THACKERAY, Shiv Sena supremo

"We are giving too much importance to Pakistan. It is just a small piece of land."

RAHUL GANDHI
Congress general secretary

"Kya main buddhi dikhti hoon? (Do I look old to you?)... Do Sonia Gandhi, Rahul Gandhi look old to you?"

PRIYANKA GANDHI
Sonia Gandhi's daughter

AP

"Dreams are not seen when you sleep, dreams are those that don't let you sleep."

NARENDRA MODI
Chief minister, Gujarat

SIPRA DAS/www.indiatodayimages.com

"The good terrorists are the guys who kill Indians and the bad ones are those who attack Pakistan."

SHASHI THAROOR
MoS, External Affairs

RAVI S SAHANI/www.indiatodayimages.com

"The greatest hurt in my public life was when my own party misunderstood me after my remarks on Mohammad Ali Jinnah. They should have known me better."

L.K. ADVANI, Chairman, BJP Parliamentary Party

YASBANT NEGI/www.indiatodayimages.com