

Villains

Madhu Koda PIT BULL

From a labourer at an iron ore mine in Jharkhand to becoming its chief minister—as an independent—Madhu Koda's roller coaster ride had made him a tribal icon. But when he was arrested following charges of laundering over Rs 2,000 crore, he joined the gallery of political rogues. The charges however, had little impact on voters. His wife Gita won the Assembly seat from Jagannathpur, which Koda had won twice.

MAHADEO SEN

Varun Gandhi

DYNASTIC DISASTER

"I if anyone raises a finger against Hindus, I will cut off that hand." This vitriolic statement, catapulted Varun Gandhi, 29, into becoming the poster boy of Hindu extremism. His arrest spawned a war of words between Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Mayawati and Varun's mother Maneka Gandhi over motherhood. He backtracked on the speech later, and a court acquitted him citing lack of evidence. He won from Pilibhit by a big margin.

SPS Rathore JUST DESSERTS

He grinned like a hero after being handed out a six-month prison term. Quite natural for Shambhu Pratap Singh Rathore who put on a vulgar show of power by tormenting the family of a 14-year-old girl he had molested. The girl, a budding tennis player, could not bear the humiliation and committed suicide. But her friend, sole witness to the tragedy, took on the former DGP of Haryana. The punishment was a mockery of justice, but thanks to media scrutiny, the Centre has decided to reopen the case. There is also a move to strip Rathore of his medals.

KESHAV SINGH

David Coleman Headley DEADLY BUSINESS

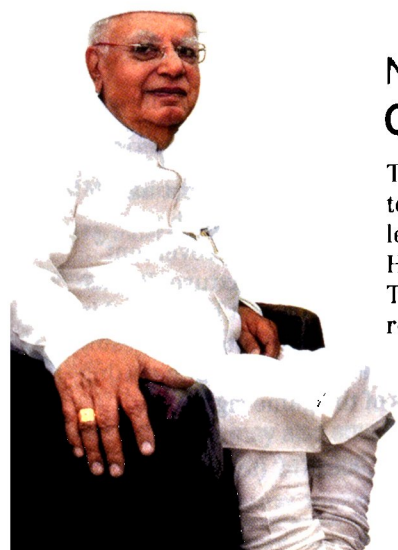

When the Pakistani-origin American businessman applied for an Indian visa in July 2007, nothing seemed out of the ordinary. He used his five-year multiple entry visa to make several visits to India. Only, his business was deadly. His arrest by the FBI brought to light how he had prepared the blueprint for the 26/11 terror attacks.

N.D. Tiwari ON CANDID CAM

The 86-year old Andhra Pradesh governor was forced to quit after a TV news channel broadcast footage allegedly showing him in bed with three young women. However, this is not the first time that Narayan Dutt Tiwari is embroiled in a sex scandal. The video was released only a month after a court rejected a paternity suit against him, from a man claiming to be the son of a Congress party activist who allegedly had an affair with the veteran Congressman.

RAJKUMAR/www.indiatodayimages.com

All is well moments

RELIANCE
Life Insurance

Reliance Life Insurance Company Limited (Reg. No. 121)