Standing Tall HEELS WITH AN EDGE

Push your dainty stilettos to the back of your wardrobe. Heels have become edgy with gladiators and ankle booties topping the charts. From metallics to neutrals, the glads aren't walking away. And your booties can be open-toed, studded and zippered.

Tight Call LEGGINGS

Pants are things of last year. Even the staunchest non-believers have started warming up to leggings and tights. Though the plain black ones are almost a classic now, the newest babies are patterned—a new spin on fishnets. From leather to denim to leopard-printed and neon-coloured, if you're up to them, slip them on.

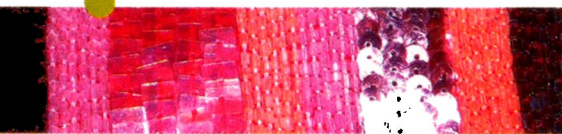

All in One JUMPSUITS

Call it what you will—playsuit, jumpsuit or onesie—this '80s favourite only gets better. Dress it up in satin like Gauri and Nainika or dress it down. It's a tricky piece of clothing. So know which one looks best on you.

The Bling Factor SEQUINS AND STUDS

The studs will make you channel your inner rocker. Men and women can wear these on their vest, T-shirt or boots. Sequins are for the ladies. Designer Monisha Jaising's sequinned numbers have been the most coveted with Deepika Padukone and Katrina Kaif strutting in these.

All Tied Up SCARVES

Give your look a botox shot with scarves. But they've always been around, you say? They have. But it's only now that they come in all possible sizes, shapes and colours. Try the extra long ones to keep you warm, knot the shorter ones to add some fun. Shah Rukh Khan's taken quite a liking to the skull patterned and kefiyah inspired ones by Alexander McQueen. There's no reason you shouldn't.
