

THE BIG CHILL

HOMELESS MEN sleep in a night shelter in Delhi as a cold wave sweeps across north India. The shelter is home to about 400 men who would have otherwise slept on the streets in temperatures dipping to 7 degrees Celsius.

KOLKATA | Song Sung Blue

Cult singer and first-time Trinamool Congress MP Kabir Suman has once again launched a revolt against his leader Mamata Banerjee. As a gesture of defiance, Suman has recorded a CD praising Chhatradhar Mahato, the recently released Maoist leader. Suman, on record against Didi for the second time, now says he doesn't care if he is expelled from the Trinamool Congress. Suman's following in West Bengal is almost at par with the firebrand railways minister. The state's numero uno singer since the 1990s, Suman's lyrics are gospel for the youth. At a recent public function, Suman only addressed the audience after being asked to do so by Banerjee, and this after the two had not exchanged a word. Suman later told INDIA TODAY that he was not cut out for politics. "I thought this would be a clean game but there are too many wheels within wheels. I shall continue to sing... My songs will continue." Not that Banerjee will be humming them.
