■ EXCELSIOR AMERICAN SCHOOL- 'Self Inspired Learning' Changing the way schools teach isn't easy but that's what Excelsior American School, Gurgaon which is a part of the esteemed chain of schools in Houston, US, has been able to achieve in a short span. They call it Self-Inspired Learning. "When a child creates a problem and solves it too, we call it self inspired learning. Freedom with responsibility is the mode of operation at Excelsior American School, as we believe that learning occurs faster in the absence of fixed, imposed constraints. Children love to explore and we don't believe in conforming them to rules. We fully understand that children need freedom of movement and choice but responsibility must accompany freedom. The children are inspired to set up their own challenges where we teach our children how to think rather than what to think." says Shalini Nambiar, Director of the school. "Our approach differs from traditional education in a way that we nurture a child's innate passion for learning in several ways. We strongly believe that each child is a genius and our aim is to unfold that genius within him. Our education system provides values that will be the child's road map throughout life, make him spiritually rich, a person who loves whatever he is doing; it will teach him what is important and effectively teach him how to live." At Excelsior the focus is on individualized learning where all aspects of the child are developed (physical emotional, moral, social, & intellectual). Learning is achieved through direct experience and active involvement. Students work at their own pace and self-direction is encouraged. The curriculum encourages critical thinking in all disciplines. As opposed to rote memorization and mechanical approach toward skills, children explore underlying concepts. A feeling of "belonging" is nurtured through ownership of the environment and student put into goal setting and individualized work plans. The instructional program is designed by the faculty to provide an individualized developmental program for each child based on his or her individual developmental rate of intellectual growth and continuous and comprehensive assessment of each child is maintained. The School which believes in the holistic development of the children by integrating sports, music and academics. It has recently won accolades by getting the prestigious award of being adjudged as the 'Best Day Boarding International School 2010' in Gurgaon in a research conducted by Times Research Organization. Most recently John, a two year 7 months old made history in the NCR region by being the youngest child to have done Parasailing.
