

Technology, State Institute of Fashion and Design, State Institute of Film and Television, State Institute of Fine Arts and State Institute of Professional Studies will come up at various places in the state. Bio and Science cities and technical institutes will be developed on modern lines. Two multi-technology institutes will be opened in Mewat, where 50 per cent seats will be reserved for the students of that area.

Industrial Training

In the coming years, the government will open 1,500 skill development centres where one lakh youths, including unemployed village workers, artisans and unskilled craftsmen, will be trained.

Health Facilities

Hospitals will be modernised with the latest gadgets and CT scan will be made available at all district hospitals. A National Institute of Cancer and a National Institute of Ageing will be established in the state. Free supply of medicines in government hospitals will continue. Free health care and surgery for the BPL persons and slum-dwellers will continue. A mobile trauma centre will also be set up after every 50 km on the national highways to provide immediate medical care to accident cases.

Panchayati Raj and Rural Development

The government will take forward Rajiv Gandhi's commitment to strengthening rural development through panchayats. The colonies being built by giving 100-sq-yd plots to each SC and BPL family under the Mahatma Gandhi Gramin Basti Yojana will be provided with power, drinking water, sewerage, cemented streets and clean lanes. To create modern facilities in villages and to implement the scheme, Rs 3,000 crore has been allocated. The government has approached the Centre to reorient NREGA to suit Haryana.

Sports & Youth Affairs

Sportspersons of Haryana have brought laurels to the state and the country in international games. An academy and a sports university are being established to give quality training to sportspersons. Sports nurseries have been set up in all districts and every large village will have a stadium for giving an opportunity to the talented players to show their mettle in the playground and earn laurels for the state and the country. One per cent of the GDP will be spent on sports for which the State Sports Fund will be created.

Drinking Water

The government would ensure drinking water to every house. Having provided free drinking water connections and water tanks under the Indira Gandhi Drinking Water Scheme to about eight lakh families, the government now promises to give water connections to families in rural and urban areas for a nominal monthly maintenance fee.

In the districts of Jhajjar, Rewari, Mahendragarh, Sonapat and Gurgaon where the quality of drinking water is not so fit, RO-based water treatment plants are coming up under the public-private partnership.

Network of Roads

All national highways passing through the state will not be less than 10-metre wide in the next two years and these will be four-laned. The width of all state highways and main roads in the districts will be of seven metres and these will be two-laned. All district-to-district roads will be 10-metre wide and four-laned. The roads which connect three or more villages will be widened.

Urban Development

In the next five years, slums will be cleared from the municipal committee areas and its inhabitants will be provided with urban facilities. Two lakh cheap houses will be built in urban areas in the next five years. A scheme will be launched to handle solid waste in all municipal committees in a scientific manner. Idea is to make Haryana a garbage free state. To improve job prospects in the Delhi region, the Metro will be extended up to Gurgaon, Faridabad, Bahadurgarh and Kundli areas.

Commerce and Industry

In the last four-and-a-half years, the state has witnessed an unparalleled boom in the industrial sector. With an eye on the overall industrial development, a new industrial policy based on public-private partnership is being envisaged.

Labour Welfare

Labourers will be issued smart cards for their PF accounts. A board will be constituted for social security of the unorganised and self-employed labourers. Labour welfare complexes will be set up in all industrial townships. Cheap rental accommodation will be provided to building and construction labourers besides giving them subsidy in constructing cheap houses.

Women empowerment

Social, economic and educational development of women will remain the top priority of the government. Reservation will be made for women in jobs, local bodies, and educational and technical institutes. Sakshar Mahila Samoochs (Literate Women's Groups) will be strengthened so that they play a vital role in awakening people of rural areas.

