

Indian Plunder League

A recent Income Tax Department report suggests that IPL chairman and the man in centre of a scandalous storm Lalit Modi has amassed wealth by less than kosher means. Before the IPL, he was better known for being the scion of an industrialist family who had tried his hand none too successfully at various enterprises. Post-IPL, Modi is the cynosure of all eyes, an achiever. While there is little doubt that Modi has converted an idea into a multi-billion-dollar baby, not everyone is convinced about his rise to riches. Some of the suspicions raised by the "source note of the Income Tax" are serious in nature. The raids by the I-T Department across the country since last week are aimed pinning down the offenders with clinching evidence.

LUXE LIFE

Modi owns a fleet of high-end cars including S-Class Mercedes, a luxury yacht, holiday homes in the Mediterranean and a Challenger 300 private jet

PROBE MATRIX

MODUS OPERANDI

Income Tax and Enforcement Directorate officials believe a maze of shell companies and offshore entities in tax havens were used to route investments. Is alleged to own equity stakes worth crores of rupees in at least three of the teams in the IPL.

BENAMI DEALS

Shielded by an opaque system process, bids were dictated and fixed to create benami interests in teams and assets across IPL activities.

CASH QUERIES

- Sequence of investments and clearances is now the focus of probe into the ownership of Rajasthan Royals which was awarded in 2008 to Emerging Media (IPL) Ltd, UK, when Jaipur IPL Cricket Pvt Ltd was yet to be formed.
- ED is looking at links between investments made in the ownership of Kings XI Punjab and transactions in the oil-for-food scam.

SEBI FOCUS

Listed companies who own teams, such as UB, India Cements, RIL, Deccan Chronicle, to furnish board and shareholder clearances for investments in IPL.

CONFLICT ZONE

India Cements Vice Chairman N. Srinivasan, the owner of Chennai Super Kings, won the bid for the franchise when he was treasurer of BCCI. He is now the secretary of the board and a member of the IPL Governing Council.

ALL IN FAMILY

Rajasthan Royals

Jaipur IPL Cricket is 100 per cent foreign-owned by EM Sporting Holdings. Comprises four companies. Suresh Chellaram, Modi's brother-in-law, owns 44.2 per cent through his company, Tresco International.

Kings XI Punjab

Owned by KPH Dream Cricket Pvt Ltd, Mohit Burman is listed as a co-promoter and director. He is said to own 24.5 per cent. He is the elder brother of Gaurav, who is married to Modi's stepdaughter, Karima Sagrani.

Global Cricket Ventures (GCV)

Owns the exclusive licences for digital and mobile rights to the IPL and Champions Trophy until 2017. Fifty per cent of GCV is owned by Elephant Capital, a private equity fund where Gaurav Burman is managing partner and brother Mohit is a director. The other 50 per cent is owned by the Dubai-based NetlinkBlue, whose chairman Akash OP Aurora is a long-time friend of Modi.

$4.13 bn is the brand value of the IPL
