

FINISH OFF THE LOOK

Belts: Belts are increasingly a must in every man's wardrobe. And the belt you choose to wear can make or break your look for the day no matter how good or stylish your shirt, trouser or suit is. Some things to look for when buying a belt: It should be of good quality leather like the ones in the Park Avenue Collection, and it should be long enough for the buckle to fit into the second loop, while the tip of the belt should extend beyond the first loop of the trousers. The colour of your belt should ideally match your shoes and watch strap. If you are wearing a suit, the colour should be darker than the suit colour. When wearing it, make sure that the buckle aligns with the placket of your shirt.

Cufflinks: Cufflinks have the singular reputation of being the only accessory in a man's wardrobe that doesn't have to be matched with any other item of his clothing. Though some men do try and match them with their watch and rings, it is not really essential. They should have the ability to stand out on their own. They are always worn on formal occasions, but make sure the cufflinks are stylish, and statement making. The dark coloured cufflinks that are part of the new Park Avenue Collection, typify the perfect cufflink that stand out in its uniqueness and appeal.
