

On a Roll

Things keep getting better for musician Monica Dogra. The 27-year-old already has a lead role in Kiran Rao's directorial debut Dhobi Ghat, starring Aamir Khan and Prateik Babbar. "It was fantastic working with Aamir. He is not a typical star and is fair and down-to-earth," she says. If that wasn't enough, her third album, Mantis, will also hit the stands in August. She's one half of the popular electronic dance band Shaa'ir+Func. What a talented girl.

A HEAD FOR SUCCESS

Naga headhunters used to take their enemies' heads as war trophies. A facial tattoo was the reward. The practice is dead but Naga film director Vikeyeno Zao, 39, is making sure we don't forget. Her documentary film, Last of the Tattooed Head Hunters, has made it to the Cannes Film Festival. "It took six months to get the tribals to agree to re-enact the rituals," she says. All worth it.

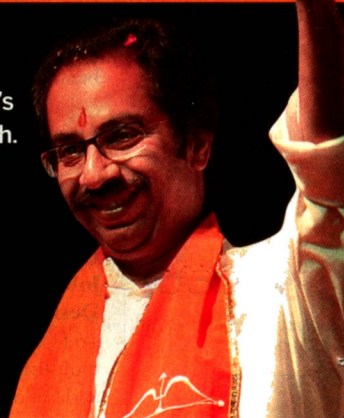

FOR REASONS OF STATE

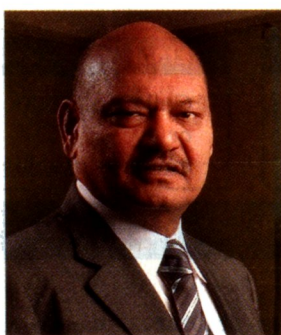

The Thackerays were on their best behaviour ahead of Maharashtra Day. A smiling Raj was out promoting the state's cuisine. It may be a temporary lull though.

VS

Uddhav's blood donation drive made it to the Guinness World Records for collecting the maximum number of blood bottles. We're just waiting till they both take off their sheep's clothing.

Photographs by BHASKAR PAUL, www.indiatodayimages.com

UMESH GOSWAMI/www.indiatodayimages.com

Rich Company

Indian-origin billionaires Anil Agarwal and Lakshmi Mittal are getting close. For Mittal, perhaps too close for comfort. Agarwal, owner of Vedanta Resources with a fortune of £4.1 billion, raced into the top 10 on the UK's Sunday Times Rich List where Mittal reigns supreme. With a 583 per cent rise in Agarwal's fortunes, should Mittal be getting worried? Think so.

“No more bhel.
No system fail.”

BHOK BHAGAO. KUCH HEALTHY KHAO.

Enriched with Oats, Corn, Ragi, Rice, Wheat.

