THIS PHONE IS A FINE example of what our cellphones will do in the future. Cellphones started with simple VGA cameras. But now with Pixon 12, the folks at Samsung have boosted the mobile into a veritable point-and-shoot camera with a hefty 12 megapixels on offer. The Pixon 12 can make a regular camera blush with its wide-angle lens. Apart from taking good shots this one can take good videos too. Additionally this mobile has a good appeal to it and the AMOLED screen responds well to touch.
