

FILM REVIEWS

LONDON DREAMS

A Stuck Record

RATING ★ ★ ★ ☆ ☆

Director: Vipul Shah
Starring: Salman Khan, Ajay Devgn, Asin

Getting a concert at Wembley requires falling at a gora's feet. Recovering from drug addiction takes a screen time of three minutes. BBC sends pink limousines stuffed with bunny girls to pick up desi boys for interviews. This is a Vipul Shah film, so it's a bit short on reality—anyone remember how a farmer became an expert on Indian culture in Namaste London? It's also high on energy, Punjabiyat and every shade of yellow. White women fall at Ajay Devgn and Salman Khan's feet, the latter walks into a formal dinner wearing boxer shorts and a prizefighter gown, and grown men wipe each other's tears tenderly. Salman plays the aging frat boy with verve, recalling the zing of Hum Dil De Chuke Sanam. Devgn smoulders and whips himself with a belt. Sparkly Asin is the woman both want. There's very little rock and roll but a whole lot of stereophonic melodrama.

by Kaveree Bamzai

ALADIN

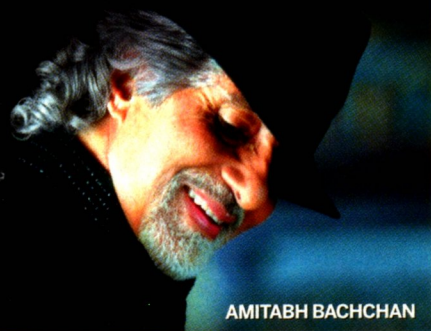

Rub a Dud

RATING ★ ★ ★ ☆ ☆

Director: Sujoy Ghosh
Starring: Amitabh Bachchan, Riteish Deshmukh

No one can say Yo Brother in Bollywood better than Amitabh Bachchan or look as cool in blingy band-wala jackets. But is that reason enough to watch a film laden with special effects that are seen there, done that? No. Deshmukh looking briefly like Shrek's Donkey, a guitar that turns into a frog, and hands that can dig into other people's brains are one-minute gags. They need something more than the saccharine sweet love between Aladin and the new girl in town, a local bully who is muscles stuffed in a T-shirt, and Harry Potter-esque missing parents. There's also Sanjay Dutt playing Ringmaster as Khalnayak to complete the motley crew. The only magic comes from how high Bachchan can still kick when it comes to dealing with the bad guys. And the fabulous virtual city of Khwaish. Make a wish, do we? How about making the movie disappear?

KB

AMITABH BACHCHAN

MUSIC REVIEWS

Different BEATS

AJAB PREM KI GHAZAB KAHANI Tips Rs 199

Pritam in this album has tried to include all genres of music, hip-hop, rock, lounge, Sufi, bhangra and Qawwali, by exploiting the talent of 16 singers. The song that arrests one's attention is Atif Aslam's Tu jaane na, with more versions sung by different singers. So many remixes in an album when they all sound the same. Huh?

KURBAAN Sony Music Rs 160

Thankfully, the film features only five songs composed by Salim-Sulaiman.

Sonu Nigam and Shreya Ghoshal could not have done more justice to Shukran Allah. Usually, when two Sufi singers sing together, one overshadows the other. But in Dua, Sukhwinder Singh and Kailash Kher complement each other. Shruti Pathak's voice is sensuous in Rasiya and Vishal Dadlani shines in Kurbaan hua.

by S. Sahaya Ranjit

Disturbed sexual functions in men can disturb their physical & mental well being too!

Available at all leading homoeopathic & selected allopathic chemists

SCHWABE - world's largest & most trusted manufacturer of homoeopathic medicines, from GERMANY.

For more details contact:
Dr. Willmar Schwabe India Pvt. Ltd.
Customer care No.: 0120-4016500 to 4016530
or log on to www.schwabeindia.com

SMS 'SCHWDAM'
to 575758

Consult your physician