The natural remedy for 'Stress'

Nature has its own way to answer man-made, lifestyle related diseases. Coconut Oil is a marvellous gift from nature. Both coconut oil and massage are distinctly important for our skin and body. We shall see now what massaging and coconut oil has in store for us.

The Coconut oil massage magic

- Coconut oil is very soothing and hence it helps in removing stress. Applying coconut oil to the head followed with a gentle massage helps in removing mental fatigue.
- Stress leaves you worn out and it shows. The coconut massage oil, endowed with a lot of antioxidants, can keep you look young even in your seventies. These antioxidants not only prevent wrinkling but protects the skin from sagging, peeling, de-colouring etc.
- It penetrates the skin very easily while massaging and is an excellent carrier oil for other herbal extracts, essential oils, medicines etc.
- It is so earthly and soothing that it keeps you fresh all the day.

And if massage alone can do such a good for the body, imagine what it can do if it is done with coconut oil. Studies have proved that there is hardly any oil that can match the goodness of coconut oil, when it comes to massage.

During massage, as the skin is rubbed with oil and the muscles are subjected to light pressure, they are agitated and the blood circulation below the skin and in the muscles is stimulated. This increased circulation brings more oxygen to tissues and they are revitalised. This increases the rate of metabolism too. Further, the oil that seeps through the skin keeps the skin soft, smooth and moist. This oil collected under the skin, when reacts with sunlight, also aids formation of Vitamin-D.

Today, around the world, as people are realising more and more about the benefits of coconut oil, the demand for coconut massage oil is growing. Many companies have launched and are still launching their specifically made Coconut Massage Oil in the market, some with and some without herbal extracts, and with varied fragrances. So, now that you have a lot to choose from, try one and see the results yourself.
But make sure it's coconut oil.
