

An Year of Triumph Transformation of Commitment into Reality

Chief Minister Dr. K. Rosaiah, a Gandhian in practice, has been working 16 hours a day to maintain the tempo of all the welfare and development schemes initiated by his predecessor late Dr. Y.S. Rajasekhara Reddy.

His one-point goal is comprehensive development of all regions and all sections of people in Andhrapradesh.

He recently affirmed that he does not harbor hatred against any region or ill-will against any individual.

Having been in public life for more than six decades, he believes in doing justice to the job he occupies.

Dr. K. Rosaiah

Hon'ble Chief Minister of Andhra Pradesh

Gundlakamma Project

THE JALAYAGNAM project was taken up by the state Government in 2004 to ensure that every farmer was facilitated with irrigated water and there by reduce dependence on vagaries of Monsoons and contain crop failures, subsequent farmer's suicides as a fall out of his huge debts. That's about 20% of India's annual budget being spent on some 81 projects – 43 major, 28 medium and 10 modernization works. The state has already completed 12 projects and another 19 projects partially completed and are releasing water for 22.74 lakh acres. Aiming to complete construction of 39 high priority projects at an estimated cost of Rs. 6900 cr by 2010-11 and create ayacut for 14.33 lakh acres and stabilisation of another 2.15 lakh acres.

As a precursor to irrigated water in command areas, the government also provided SEVEN HOURS OF FREE POWER for the benefit of farmers in plains where they depended on bore wells for cultivation. The state Government has borne an expenditure of Rs. 17,000cr to agriculture sector to irrigate 27.69 lakh agricultural services. That every single farmer is getting a benefit of a minimum Rs. 2125 per year from the free power scheme since 2004. Even in the peak of summer of 2010 an energy requirement of 32,653 MU was supplied including 1,741 MU purchased by Discoms at a total cost of about Rs. 700 cr.

RAJIV AROGYASRI is yet another flagship program of the state government which has won national and international accolades. The UPA chair person Smt. Sonia Gandhi was all praise that the scheme implemented in 23 dist. of the AP covers nearly 85% of the state population & covers 938 diseases and conditions. As off 6 May 2010 under the Arogyasri scheme a sum of Rs.1806.69 cr were spent for screening 31.9 lakh patients in 17847 health camps, 6.97 lakh in-patients, 9.75 lakh out-patients and for performing 6000656 surgeries in 342 network hospitals. The scheme implemented all over the state since 17 July 2008, the scheme provided insurance coverage of Rs. 2 lakh for each person for 938 identified procedures both in medical and surgical management cases.

PRAJA PATHAM program was begun by the state government in an effort to take the administration to the door steps of the people in villages instead of them running around government offices for their basic needs. The latest month long program launched on 19 April 2010, through out the State focused on Drinking Water, Aarogysri, Ration Cards, Pensions and the Emergency Medical Services of 104 and 108. As per the latest statistics the elected representatives and the officials visited 19,570 Gps / Wards spread across all the 265 constituencies recording 78% visits.

LAND DISTRIBUTION The State Government which began land distribution to the landless poor in 2004 has achieved a historic milestone with the completion of the fifth phase this year. Andhra Pradesh has become thus a role model in land distribution in the country and registered disbursement of a total of 7,09,228.81 acres to 5,04,099 beneficiaries. In the fifth and current phase which began on the birthday of Dr. B R Ambedkar, the government took up distribution of 1,00,615.22 acres to nearly 69,506 landless poor.

PAVALA VADDI SCHEME is for women empowerment all over the State, through its program of Self Help Groups for women promoting thrift and also involvement of women rural development activities. Thus the scheme begun in 2004 has become a major economic growth program under which the Government has given a whopping subsidy of Rs. 583.86 cr since inception. Rs. 270 cr was released for the year 2010-11.
