

I believe that education is the currency of the 21st century. Imparting quality and value based education is a social onus. Good education system helps in providing well qualified and trained professionals, who are committed to render selfless meticulous service to the society at large. The world of knowledge is widening and universities have become instruments of national competition. They have become a powerful force for global integration. Mind set of students and parents has completely changed in the last few years. Today the student not only wants to extend his knowledge but also enhance his skills. MJRP UNIVERSITY is providing innovative way of learning from conventional subjects.
